1 For PPS Claims, the Total Amount column will contain the initial expected payment based on the HIPPS Code and other factors . For non-PPS Claims the Total Amount will be the sum of all charges.

2 PPS Claims are indicated with an 'R' for RAP and 'F' for Final Claim in the PPS Column.

3 For PPS Claims, the Expected Payment column will contain 60% or 50% of the initial expected payment for RAPs and unpaid balance of the final episode value for Final Claims. For non-PPS medicare claims, the expected payment is based upon the number of billable visits multiplied by your reimbursement rate.

4 Insurance and Patient Responsibility summaries can not be added together as visits are included into both summaries.

* For RAPs, if the payment is 0.00", then either there is no RAP payment in the ledger or the RAP payment is not classified correctly .

1 For PPS Claims, the Total Amount column will contain the initial expected payment based on the HIPPS Code and other factors . For non-PPS Claims the Total Amount will be the sum of all charges.

2 PPS Claims are indicated with an 'R' for RAP and 'F' for Final Claim in the PPS Column.

3 For PPS Claims, the Expected Payment column will contain 60% or 50% of the initial expected payment for RAPs and unpaid balance of the final episode value for Final Claims. For non-PPS medicare claims, the expected payment is based upon the number of billable visits multiplied by your reimbursement rate.

4 Insurance and Patient Responsibility summaries can not be added together as visits are included into both summaries.

* For RAPs, if the payment is 0.00*, then either there is no RAP payment in the ledger or the RAP payment is not classified correctly .
